

visitor

From: Karen
Sent: 25 January 2005 08:10
To: visitor
Subject: RE: re reply[Scanned]

Yes. It should.

Thanks

Karen

-----Original Message-----

From: visitor
Sent: 21 January 2005 09:10
To: Karen
Subject: FW: re reply[Scanned]

Karen
This was in James's in box. Not sure if this counts as a response?
Valerie

-----Original Message-----

From: stewart forbes [mailto:stewartwforbes@hotmail.com]
Sent: 20 January 2005 22:44
To: James
Subject: re reply[Scanned]

Hi James,

Thanks for a timeous reply. I am sure that you are invited to far too many visits to cope with anyway, and I can understand the pressure of time in getting the report out too.

I don't know if the final report will touch on jazz education, but with our dedicated jazz modules we have a unique undergraduate course in Scotland. Like all institutions, we want to ensure the development and growth of our 'product' as it were. I and my colleagues are enormously proud of our jazz students and their achievements at the BA Applied music course. Over the last 10 years, many of the leading younger jazz performers in Scotland have come through our course and we would naturally hope that this will continue.

There are many exciting possibilities ahead, including possible relocation to the City centre at some stage in the next 6 years I believe. This, with the regeneration of the Merchant City, BBC relocation etc etc make for a promising future I think.

Good luck with the report. I hope that with so much input and expertise, the conclusions are taken on board by those that have the potential to alter things.

Kind Regards,

Stewart Forbes LTCL BA M.Mus (jazz module leader)